THE LAW SCHOOL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Chicago was founded in 1890, the product of the interest of the Baptist denomination in establishing a strong and well-equipped college at Chicago to serve the West. The generosity of private donors, led by John D. Rockefeller, enabled its first president, the brilliant young scholar William Rainey Harper, to realize his bold ideas and extraordinary standards in the creation of a new university. It was to be, at his insistence, a true university, consisting of faculty and facilities for both undergraduate instruction and advanced training and research. It was launched not only with a program of ambitious dimensions but with a faculty of remarkable distinction; it became at once one of the leading universities of the world. At the time of its organization the University was, as one observer has described it, "a new kind of institution, borrowing from the structure and aims of German and English universities, joining the gentlemanly tradition of zeal for good works of the New England colleges with the confidence and brashness of the Middle West." The character of the University was fixed from the start by the spirit of innovation, the devotion to intellectual inquiry, the insistence upon rigorous standards, and the strong sense of mission that Harper gave the new institution. "No episode," a recent study of American higher education declares, "was more important in shaping the outlook and expectations of American higher education during those years than the founding of The University of Chicago, one of those events in American history that brought into focus the spirit of an age."

The University is located on the South Side of Chicago. On the campus are concentrated the facilities and activities of its principal academic units: The College; the four Divisions—Physical Sciences, Biological Sciences, Humanities, and Social Sciences; and the seven Professional Schools—Graduate School of Business, Divinity School, Graduate School of Education, Law School, Graduate Library School, School of Medicine, and School of Social Service Administration. There, too, are located among its other units and facilities the University's Oriental Institute, Enrico Fermi Institute for research in the physical sciences, its medical research institutes and hospitals (Albert Merritt Billings Hospital, Chicago Lying-In Hospital, Bobs Roberts Memorial Hospital for Children, Argonne Cancer Research Hospital, Nathan Goldblatt Memorial Hospital, Home for Destitute Crippled Children, and the new Silvain and Arma Wyler Children's Hospital), Laboratory Schools (founded by John Dewey), the Sonia Shankman Orthogenic School, and the Center for Continuing Education, a part of the University's Extension Division.

The University enjoys the advantages both of a metropolitan environment and of a self-contained intellectual and residential community. The campus is seven miles south of Chicago's downtown area and just west of the shore of Lake Michigan. The University is the dominant element in a residential area which lies between two large parks. It extends for nearly a mile in one direction along both sides of an open mall, the Midway Plaisance, and more than half a mile in the other. The thirteen buildings which constituted the University in its first five years have grown to over 130; the Gothic style of the original quadrangles mingles with the work of such modern architects as Frank Lloyd Wright, Eero Saarinen, Edward Durrell Stone, and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe. The Law School Quadrangle by Saarinen, completed in 1960, is a striking feature of the newer part of the campus growing along the south side of the Midway, and has become one of Chicago's modern architectural landmarks.

The City of Chicago and the University have grown together, enriched each other, and shared common resources and challenges. Students at the University soon become familiar with the city's distinguished cultural resources—the Chicago Symphony, the Art Institute, the Lyric Opera, the theaters, galleries, museums, and concert halls. On the other hand the campus itself is an important focus of intellectual life for the entire city, and a continuing program of concerts, lectures, exhibits, conferences, and other attractions draws visitors to the campus from the entire metropolitan region. University scholars of many kinds make constant use of the city's resources. At the same time, many of these same scholars are employed in solving some of the city's most fundamental problems and are sought as authorities and leaders in a variety of civic enterprises.

THE LAW SCHOOL

A school of law and jurisprudence was contemplated in the original plan for the University of Chicago. It was President Harper's view that the school should be more than a training institution for admission to the bar. An education in law, he said, "implies a scientific knowledge of law and of legal and juristic methods. These are the crystallization of ages of human progress. They cannot be understood in their entirety without a clear comprehension of the historic forces of which they are the product, and of the social environment with which they are in living contact. A scientific study of law involves the related sciences of history, economics, philosophy—the whole field of man as a social being."

President Harper's plan was approved by the Trustees in 1902 and the Law School was opened in October of that year. The cornerstone for the first law building, made possible by a gift from John D. Rockefeller, was laid by President Theodore Roosevelt on April 2, 1903. The goal of the School, as stated in the first Announcements, was "to afford adequate preparation for the practice of law as a profession in any jurisdiction in which the common law prevails, and to cultivate and encourage the scientific study of systematic and comparative jurisprudence, legal history, and principles of legislation."

Harper's broad view of legal education and the aims of the first faculty have animated the program and spirit of the Law School down to the present day. In its professional curriculum the School seeks to impart the systematic knowledge of traditional and modern fields of the law and the intellectual discipline that are a necessary foundation for the practice of law with distinction. At the same time it recognizes that professional education in the law must train men for diverse and unpredictable roles as lawyers—both within the practice of law itself and as public servants, civic leaders, in business life, and as teachers and scholars—and accordingly places a high value on intellectual breadth in legal studies, including knowledge of the history, principles, and purposes of legal institutions and the operation of these institutions in the modern world. The School has adhered to Harper's conviction that it was not to be an institution that had a merely nominal connection with the University and was not to be separated either by location or by spirit from the University at large. The conviction is reflected in diverse ways—in the variety of courses and seminars taught, in the membership on the faculty of professional economists and other social scientists, the participation of scholars from other branches of the University in the instructional program, in its research interests, and in the active interest which students in the Law School take in the life of the University as a whole. Thus, while the School has a strong professional emphasis, maintaining close ties with the practicing bar, the bench, and institutions concerned with law reform, it remains an organic part of the University, embodying the spirit and purpose of university life, and, in turn, contributing to that life.

The usual, although not exclusive, form of instruction in the Law School is the case method. Emphasis is also placed on individual instruction through a tutorial program in the first year and through seminars and supervised independent study in the second and third years. The program of the first year is prescribed and provides all students with a common foundation in the basic legal subjects. The program of the second and third years is elective. The total student body numbers about 440, including approximately 25 graduate students each year, and is deliberately kept rather small to maximize the opportunities for close contact with the faculty and for individual or small-class study in the second and third years.

PREPARATION FOR LAW STUDY

The Law School does not require that applicants for admission present college credit in any specified subjects. An excellent general education is thought more important for the student of law than specialized study in fields closely related to the law. Ideally such an education should include some study of history and of the social sciences, while not neglecting literature, philosophy, or other humane fields. Ideally, too, it should serve to demonstrate the capacity for logical precision that competence in mathematics or the physical sciences may demonstrate. Increasingly a mastery of some foreign language is valuable in the study of law as the ability to learn about other legal systems becomes more important to our society. But just as there are many different roads to the acquisition of an inquiring, disciplined, cultivated mind, so there are different ways in which a student may acquire a valuable foundation for the study of law. Perhaps of greatest importance is that the student should have acquired habits of precision, fluency, and economy in speaking and writing.

PROGRAMS OF INSTRUCTION

THE DOCTOR OF LAW (J.D.) DEGREE

The regular or professional curriculum in the Law School is a three-year program leading to the degree of Doctor of Law (J.D.). Admission to the program is open to men and women who have received a Bachelor's degree from an approved college before beginning their study in the Law School.

The entering class is limited to approximately 150 students. Students are selected on the basis of their college academic records, their performance on the Law School Admission Test (which is required of all applicants), and such other evidence of their academic and professional promise as may be available. Such evidence includes the letters of recommendation received from college instructors and others familiar with the applicant's personal qualifications and performance, relevant activities and achievements outside the classroom, and personal interviews. A personal interview is not required, but applicants are encouraged to arrange for an interview with a representative of the School when possible. For this purpose members of the faculty and the administrative staff visit a number of colleges each year. Visits to the School by prospective applicants are welcomed but should be arranged in advance.

While superior academic performance in college is a general requirement for admission, no specific minimum standard is applied. The applicant's academic qualifications are judged not only with reference to his overall average but by a careful evaluation of his college record. The quality of the program pursued, evidence of strong improvement in the later years in college, and outstanding performances in particular subjects often weigh heavily in the judgment made by the Committee on Admissions.

Because of the large number of applications that must be reviewed each year it is desirable for candidates to apply early in the academic year prior to the year for which they seek admission. It is recommended that they take the Law School Admission Test in November. Each application is considered as soon as it is complete, and decisions are taken at the earliest practicable time. The applicant is advised of the action in his case whenever a final decision has been made by the Committee on Admissions. Applications should be filed not later than April 15.

ADMISSION PROCEDURE

A request for application forms should be addressed to the Dean of Students, The Law School, The University of Chicago, 1111 East 60th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637. The completed application form must be returned to the same office.

At the same time an application fee of $15, in the form of a check or money order payable to the University of Chicago, must be sent to the Bursar of the University. The application fee is not refundable.

The applicant must request each college or university he has attended to send to the Law School an official transcript covering all work taken by him, both undergraduate and graduate. (Transcripts mailed directly by the applicant will not be sufficient.) The transcripts should cover all work completed to the date of application. Action may be taken on an application on the basis of three years of college grades, although such action may be conditioned upon the submission of a supplemental transcript showing satisfactory completion of later work.

The applicant must also arrange (usually in advance of formal application to the Law School) to take the Law School Admission Test and to have an official report of his scores on the test sent to the Law School. Application forms for the test and information about it may be obtained by writing to: Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08640. Applications to take the test must be received by the Educational Testing Service at least two weeks before the scheduled date of the test. The test is scheduled to be given on November 13, 1965, February 12, 1966, April 9, 1966, and August 6, 1966, at selected locations throughout the United States and at certain foreign centers. Applications to take the test at foreign centers must be received at least one month before the scheduled date. Requests for the establishment of special centers in the United States or Canada or for special examination dates must be received by the Educational Testing Service at least five weeks before the scheduled test date, and for special foreign centers at least eight weeks before the scheduled test date.

At the time of application to the Law School the applicant is asked to give the names of three persons who can furnish letters of recommendation about him. The Law School corresponds directly with the persons named. The letters of recommendation must be received before an application is considered complete.

Upon being notified of his admission an applicant is required to pay an acceptance deposit of $50 to hold his place in the entering class. The deadline for payment of the acceptance deposit is specified in the applicant's letter of admission and will vary depending upon the date of the action on his application for admission or for a scholarship. In no event will an applicant be required to make an acceptance deposit before April 1 or before receiving notification of action on a scholarship application. The acceptance deposit is not refundable unless illness, induction into the military service, or other sufficient cause prevents an applicant from entering the Law School in the year for which he has been accepted. The deposit is applied against the tuition charge.

ADMISSION WITH ADVANCED STANDING

A student in good standing at an approved law school who has completed at least one year of law study may apply for admission to the Law School with advanced standing. The amount of transfer credit which may be recognized will be determined on the facts of each case. Ordinarily students admitted with advanced standing will be required to complete at least six quarters (two academic years) of residence at the Law School to qualify for the J.D. degree. A Bachelor's degree from an approved college is a prerequisite to admission with advanced standing upon transfer from an American law school, and no transfer credit will be granted for legal studies for which credit toward a Bachelor's degree has been received.

A graduate of an approved law school whose studies have been primarily in the common law may apply for admission as a third-year student and may become a candidate for the J.D. degree. Such a candidate must complete a minimum of three quarters of residence in the Law School and a minimum of 44 course hours, in a program approved by the faculty, to qualify for the degree.

A graduate of an approved foreign law school whose studies have not been primarily in the common law may apply for admission as a candidate for the J.D. degree in regular course. In the case of such a candidate the requirements for the degree may be met in part by the recognition of credits of up to 45 course hours if performance while in residence in the Law School demonstrates the effective value of the student's earlier legal studies in a foreign system.

Inquiries and requests for application forms concerning admission with advanced standing should be addressed to the Dean of Students of the Law School.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE J. D. DEGREE

To receive the J.D. degree a student must have been in residence for nine full quarters, maintained satisfactory academic standing, and received credit for the prescribed courses and other required units of credit. A total of 135 course hours, or  $33\frac{3}{4}$  course units, is required. (Credit in the Law School is ordinarily measured in course hours but for certain purposes is expressed in course units. A single course unit is the equivalent of four course hours, or four hours per week for one quarter.) To qualify for residence for a full quarter a student must take and complete 12 or more course hours.

In each course, seminar, or other credit work the student receives a final grade according to the following scale: A, 80 and above; B, 74-79; C, 68-73; D, 60-67; F, below 60. (Grades are recorded as numerical grades in the Office of the Law School and as letter grades in the Office of the Registrar of the University.) A grade of 60 or above is required for credit for the work involved.

To maintain satisfactory academic standing a student must receive a weighted grade average of 68 or more for the work of each academic year. In addition, a student who receives two failing final grades in any one academic year, or three failing final grades during his period of residence at the Law School, will not have maintained satisfactory academic standing. Maintenance of satisfactory academic standing is a prerequisite to continuation in the School as well as for graduation.

Regular class attendance is required as a condition of receiving credit for work done, and the privilege of membership in the School may be withdrawn for unsatisfactory class work or attendance.

After the first four weeks of any quarter a student is not permitted to withdraw from a course, seminar, or special work for which he has registered that quarter except with the permission of the Dean.

The degree of Doctor of Law, cum laude, is awarded to candidates who have satisfied the requirements for the degree with distinction. The achievement of a weighted grade average of 78 or better is considered to be completion of the requirements with distinction.

THE GRADUATE PROGRAMS

The Law School offers four regular programs of study beyond the first degree in law leading to advanced degrees. These are (1) the Master of Laws (LL.M.) Program, providing a year of advanced study for Anglo-American law graduates; (2) the Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.S.D.) Program, under which Anglo-American graduates may engage in advanced study and research; (3) the Comparative Law Program, intended primarily for students whose training has been in legal systems other than the common law; and (4) the Foreign Law Program, a program designed to give graduates of American law schools specialized competence in a foreign legal system and in international studies. Details about these programs are set out below.

In addition to these regular programs the Law School is prepared to arrange, for especially qualified graduate students or established scholars, special programs of study and research in the fields of Law and Economics, International Trade and Development, and Criminal Law and Criminology. A number of fellowships for such study are available. Preliminary inquiries about such programs should be addressed to the following members of the Faculty: For Law and Economics, Professor Ronald H. Coase; for International Trade and Development, Professor Kenneth W. Dam; for Criminal Law and Criminology, Professor Norval R. Morris.

THE MASTER OF LAWS PROGRAM

The graduate program leading to the LL.M. degree makes available to qualified law graduates a year of advanced study in the Law School. The program provides an opportunity for law graduates who wish to develop specialized interests, who desire to supplement their undergraduate legal education, and who may wish to engage in individual research. Admissions to the program are limited to students (1) who have obtained an undergraduate degree from an approved school of Anglo-American law, (2) whose undergraduate record displays high scholarly aptitude, and (3) who display qualities of maturity and serious purpose to justify the expectation that they will satisfactorily complete the requirements for the LL.M. degree.

The degree of Master of Laws (LL.M.) is awarded to students who have been in residence for three full consecutive academic quarters, have completed their studies with a B average or above, and have satisfactorily completed in the course of their studies a substantial research paper under the supervision of a member of the law faculty. To qualify for residence for a full quarter, the student must take and complete the equivalent of 12 or more course hours. Credit for 36 course hours and the maintenance of satisfactory academic standing are needed to qualify for the degree.

The program of graduate study is expected to occupy the student's full time during his academic year in residence at the School. Each student's course of study may include individual work under the direction of a member of the law faculty; courses and seminars in the Law School; and, when appropriate, related courses at the graduate level in other schools and divisions of the University. If a student elects individual work for credit, the supervising faculty member will submit a report to the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Studies describing the nature of the work submitted and copies of papers submitted. All such papers will be deposited in the library of the Law School. If the student's program includes courses open to J.D. candidates, supplementary work in such courses may be required.

Students admitted to candidacy for the J.S.D. degree will be awarded the LL.M. degree following completion of the year in residence. Students admitted to the J.S.D. program but who are denied admittance to candidacy for the J.S.D. degree and who have satisfied the requirements for the LL.M. degree may be awarded the LL.M. degree upon recommendation of the Committee on Graduate Studies and favorable action by the faculty.

THE DOCTOR OF JURISPRUDENCE PROGRAM

The graduate program leading to the J.S.D. degree is intended to give superior law graduates an opportunity to secure advanced and specialized training, to cultivate their capacities for significant independent research, and to contribute to the development of legal scholarship. Admissions to the program are limited to students (1) who have obtained an undergraduate law degree from an approved school of Anglo-American law, (2) whose undergraduate record displays outstanding scholarly aptitude, (3) who at the time of their admission demonstrate well-defined research interests, and (4) who display qualities of maturity and serious purpose sufficient to justify the expectation that they will successfully complete the requirements of the doctorate.

The degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.S.D.) is awarded to students who have been in residence for three full consecutive academic quarters, have completed their studies with a B average or above, and, after admission to candidacy for the degree, have submitted a dissertation that is accepted by the faculty as a creditable contribution to legal scholarship. To qualify for residence for a full quarter, the student must take and complete the equivalent of 12 or more course hours. Credit for 36 course hours and the maintenance of satisfactory academic standing are needed to qualify for the degree.

The program of graduate study is expected to occupy the student's full time during his academic year in residence at the School. Each student's course of study may include individual work under the direction of a member of the law faculty; courses and seminars in the Law School; and, when appropriate, related courses at the graduate level in other schools of the University. If a student elects individual work for credit, the supervising faculty member will submit a report to the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Studies describing the nature of the work submitted and copies of papers submitted. All such papers will be deposited in the library in the Law School. If the student's program includes courses open to J.D. candidates, supplementary work in such courses may be required.

Within two weeks after the beginning of the student's first academic quarter in residence the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Studies will appoint a faculty dissertation committee to supervise the student's research program. The faculty dissertation committee will consist of three members, the chairman of which will be a member of the faculty of the Law School. Whenever appropriate, faculty members of other departments of the University may be appointed to serve on faculty dissertation committees. The student upon being notified of the appointment of the faculty dissertation committee will consult with the chairman on the choice of a dissertation topic and on all other matters deemed appropriate by the committee. At a time not later than the end of the first academic quarter in residence, the student will submit to the dissertation committee a dissertation topic and a tentative outline of the proposed dissertation in such form as required by the dissertation committee. Upon approval of the topic and outline by the dissertation committee, the chairman of that committee will file a statement of the dissertation topic and a copy of the tentative outline with the Committee on Graduate Studies.

Before the end of the second academic quarter in residence, the student will submit to the faculty dissertation committee a segment of his dissertation of such nature and length as in the opinion of the committee will provide a basis for judgment of the quality of the work in progress and of the likelihood of its being brought to successful completion. Upon receipt of the segment of the dissertation, the chairman will set a date for an oral examination on the dissertation outline and dissertation segment. The examination will be conducted by the faculty dissertation committee and such other members of the Law School faculty as elect to participate in the examination. Upon successful completion of the oral examination and the required academic work in residence, the student will be admitted to candidacy for the J.S.D. degree.

The dissertation must be submitted to the Committee on Graduate Studies within five years after the completion of the period in residence. To be acceptable, the dissertation must constitute a creditable contribution to legal scholarship and must be in publishable form. Three permanently bound typewritten, printed, or litho-printed copies must be deposited with the Committee on Graduate Studies not later than five weeks before the date of the convocation at which the degree is to be granted. Dissertations must conform to requirements of form established by the Committee on Graduate Studies.

Bigelow Teaching Fellows accepted as candidates for the J.S.D. degree may satisfy one academic quarter of residence requirement during their three-quarter period as teaching fellows.

THE COMPARATIVE LAW PROGRAM

The graduate Comparative Law Program makes available to law graduates trained primarily in foreign legal systems the opportunity to acquire a knowledge of American law and legal institutions, to pursue comparative studies in their fields of special interest, and to engage in research in such fields. The degrees awarded in this program are the Master of Comparative Law (M.Comp.L.) and the Doctor of Comparative Law (D.Comp.L.).

Admission to the Comparative Law Program is open to students who are graduates of approved foreign law schools and whose credentials establish to the satisfaction of the Committee on Graduate Studies that they are qualified to undertake advanced study and research in law.

The degree of Master of Comparative Law is awarded to students who have completed with distinction the residence work required for the degree of Doctor of Comparative Law and who are recommended for the M.Comp.L. degree by the Committee on Graduate Studies and by the faculty.

The degree of Doctor of Comparative Law is awarded to students who have been in residence for three full consecutive quarters, have completed their studies with distinction, and, after admission to candidacy for the degree, have submitted a dissertation that is accepted by the faculty as a creditable contribution to the literature of comparative law. To qualify for residence for a full quarter, the student must take and complete 12 or more course hours. The rules relating to examinations, grading, and maintenance of academic standing are applicable to candidates for the M.Comp.L. and D.Comp.L. degrees, except that students whose native tongue is other than English may receive extra time on examinations with the consent of the instructor. The program is individually arranged with the student's faculty adviser and is expected to occupy the student's full time. At least half of the student's work in residence must be devoted to some phases of Anglo-American law. If the work in residence is completed with distinction, and a detailed outline and partial draft of the dissertation are submitted and approved, the student will be admitted as a candidate for the doctorate. Thereafter the candidate's dissertation must be submitted to the faculty for its approval within a reasonable period of time as set by the candidate's dissertation committee.

Certificate program.—Graduates of approved foreign law schools whose studies have not been primarily in the common law may apply for admission to a program designed to give a one-year introduction to Anglo-American law. Upon completion of three full quarters of residence such students will be given a certificate of attendance or a certificate for courses successfully completed.

THE FOREIGN LAW PROGRAM

The Foreign Law Program is a two-year program of intensive training in the law and legal institutions of a single foreign legal system, supplemented by specialized study of international public and commercial law. The first year is spent at the University of Chicago Law School and the second year abroad. Admission is open to graduates of approved American law schools presenting superior academic records and evidence of sufficient competence in a foreign language to enable them to undertake the program of study.

The degree of Master of Comparative Law is awarded to students who have satisfactorily completed the two years of work required in the curriculum of the program. The first year of work consists of three full quarters of residence at the Law School during which a major portion of the student's time will be spent in intensive and systematic study of the private law of France or Germany. The second year of work will be carried on, under special arrangements for guidance and supervision, in a foreign country.

Upon successful completion of the curriculum of the Foreign Law Program and the submission, within a reasonable period of time thereafter as set by the faculty, of a dissertation that is considered by the faculty to be a significant contribution, the candidate will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Comparative Law.

CURRICULUM

The First Year. The work of the first year is prescribed. In addition to the required courses, all first-year students perform individual assignments in a tutorial program conducted under the direction of a member of the faculty. In this program each student is assigned to a tutor, who is one of the Bigelow Teaching Fellows. The tutorial work emphasizes training in research, in the preparation of legal memoranda and other forms of legal writing, and in oral argument. Several of the assignments each year are based upon problems currently presented in actual cases, both trial and appellate, which are heard in the Weymouth Kirkland Courtroom of the Law School before courts of Illinois. A final examination is given in each course at the end of the quarter in which the course is concluded, except that in Civil Procedure and in Property a final examination is given on each quarter's work in the course. Interim or practice examinations are usually given in one or more of the other courses at the end of the Autumn or Winter Quarter.

The Second and Third Years. The program of the second and third years is elective. A number of courses are customarily taken in the second year if elected, although they may also be taken as third-year courses. These courses are marked with an asterisk (*) in the course listings below.

The normal course load permits each student to plan a well-rounded program of studies and at the same time to pursue some special interests beyond the basic level. An effort is made to provide substantial opportunities for supervised research and writing, and for exploration of developing areas of the law, particularly in the third year. In this connection the attention of students is called to the new Third-Year Writing Program for students not on the Law Review, to be directed in 1965-66 by Professor Kurland.

Students are encouraged to give thought to the over-all plan of their studies for the second and third years before registering for the second year, although it is to be expected that any general plan may undergo considerable revision as the student's knowledge and interests in the law develop. Each student is assigned a faculty adviser when he enters the Law School and students are encouraged to consult the faculty adviser or other members of the faculty in selecting their programs.

In order to achieve credit for 135 course hours in nine quarters a student must take an average of 15 course hours per quarter. Except with the permission of the Dean no student may take more than 17 course hours in any quarter. Each student is responsible for keeping himself informed of the number of additional credits he requires for graduation.

In the course and seminar descriptions the number in parentheses at the end of the description represents the value of the course or seminar in terms of course hours per quarter.

PUBLICATIONS AND RESEARCH PROGRAMS

The Law School publishes three professional journals, The University of Chicago Law Review, The Supreme Court Review, and the Journal of Law and Economics. The Law Review is a quarterly published under the management of a board of student editors. The Supreme Court Review is an annual volume devoted to responsible professional criticism of the current decisions of the Supreme Court. The Journal of Law and Economics provides a forum, the only one of its kind, for the publication of writings by economists and lawyers on problems that are both economic and legal, and seeks to stimulate scholarly investigation of such problems.

The School's long-standing concern with the relationships between law and economics has also been expressed through the Law-Economics Program, under which lawyers and economists interested in problems in this area have been encouraged to spend some time at the Law School working on problems of their choice. A continuing series of studies has focused on problems in the antitrust field. Presently special attention is being given to problems of public ownership and public regulation of economic enterprise, to problems of labor organization and technological advance, and to the emerging problems of allocation of rights in undersea resources.

The Program in Law and the Behavioral Sciences has for some years been supporting studies aimed at increasing knowledge about legal institutions by drawing upon relevant knowledge and techniques of other disciplines concerned with social organization. Continuing projects under this program are an empirical study of the behavior of juries in civil and in criminal cases, which seeks among other things to isolate the characteristics of jury determination which differentiate it from decisions by judges without juries; studies of the causes of court congestion and certain proposed remedial devices; and a study of existing systems of lawmaking by arbitration.

The Comparative Law Research Center, established in 1949, serves as a means of encouraging and guiding research projects in the field of international legal relations and comparative private law. It also serves as a clearing house of information for foreign research and teaching institutions and provides advice to scholars and students abroad who are engaged in studies touching upon American law. The Director of the Center is Professor Max Rheinstein, Max Pam Professor of Comparative Law.

Beginning in 1966 the School will undertake a long-range program of research aimed at enlarging knowledge about criminal behavior and the means of dealing with it. Within the framework of a Center for Studies in Criminal Justice, these efforts will be concerned with such areas as fairness and efficiency in criminal justice administration; problems of juvenile court administration; treatment of criminal offenders and delinquents, with emphasis on experimental testing of alternative treatment programs; the effects of different sanctions as deterrents to unwanted behavior; and the state of existing information and methodology of research in problems of crime. The School's resources for work in this field were augmented in 1965 by the establishment of a new chair, the Julius Kreeger Professorship of Law and Criminology, and by a grant from the Ford Foundation for the support of the new Center.

BUILDINGS AND LIBRARY

The Law Quadrangle consists of four connected buildings surrounding an open court. It connects directly with the Burton-Judson Residence Halls in which the residence Houses for law students are located. Immediately east of the Law Quadrangle are the buildings of the American Bar Center, occupied by the national headquarters of the American Bar Association, the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, the library and research activities of the American Bar Foundation, and various other national legal organizations.

One building of the Law Quadrangle contains the auditorium, seating 475 persons, and a courtroom, the Weymouth Kirkland Courtroom, which was designed and is used for the hearing of official cases as well as moot cases argued by the law students. The classroom building includes four classrooms of varying sizes, a number of seminar and conference rooms, student lounges and lockers, and a suite of offices for the Mandel Legal Aid Clinic. Administrative offices are located in a separate wing which connects the library building and the residence halls.

The Law Library and faculty offices occupy the large central building of the group, immediately adjacent to the classroom area. Faculty offices, research offices, student study rooms, and carrels surround the stack areas of the library. The book stacks are open to all students and the plan of the building provides direct access to members of the faculty as well as convenient facilities for study throughout the book areas. The building contains offices for student organizations, a typing room, a rare book room, and a periodicals room.

The Law Library collection covers substantially all fields and systems of law. The Anglo-American Law section contains an almost complete collection of the statutes, session laws, and reported decisions of the courts of each jurisdiction. It includes also an extensive collection of the original briefs and records of cases in the Supreme Court of the United States and a representative collection of the reports and opinions of the federal and state administrative agencies. The Law Library is a designated depository for United States government documents. In addition the Anglo-American Law section comprises substantial collections of digests, encyclopedias, loose-leaf services, periodicals, treatises, and bar association proceedings. The Foreign Law section contains basic source and secondary materials relating to early legal systems and the law of European and African countries, including the latest codes, laws, decisions, and current periodicals. There are also special sections on legal history, biography, jurisprudence, comparative law, canon law, and international law. A collection of materials concerning the laws of oriental countries can be found in the Library of the Oriental Institute and Far Eastern Library. Law students have ready access to the other libraries of the University, to the library of the nearby Public Administration Service, and to the library of the American Bar Center. The professional schools of the University include the Graduate Library School, which offers certain programs of study designed to prepare students for law librarianship. Information about these programs may be obtained directly from that School.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS AND EVENTS

To supplement its formal curriculum, the School arranges each year a varied program of conferences and lectures. It is the School's conviction that law study should provide generous opportunity for students to consider important current issues of law and policy and be exposed to the viewpoints of practicing lawyers, politicians, business leaders, and scholars from other fields whose concerns furnish the facts and problems with which law must deal. These activities also have as their aim to help further the development of the law by fostering informed discussion of contemporary problems.

The following summary of activities during the year 1964-65 indicates the nature and scope of this part of the Law School's program.

CONFERENCES

A Conference on Judicial Ethics was held in the Autumn Quarter. Papers were presented by the Honorable John S. Hastings, Chief Judge, United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit; Simon H. Rifkind, of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison, New York; The Honorable A. F. Bray, Presiding Justice, District Court of Appeals of California; and The Honorable Charles D. Breitel, Justice of the Appellate Division, Supreme Court of New York. Comment on the papers was provided by The Honorable Thomas E. Fairchild, Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin; Robert L. Stern, of Mayer, Friedlich, Spiess, Tierney, Brown and Platt, Chicago; Edward L. The School's Seventeenth Annual Federal Tax Conference took place in October. The Conference is planned in co-operation with members of the tax bar in Chicago, and is participated in by tax specialists from all over the United States. The program of the three-day Conference is too long to be set forth here; papers delivered at the Conference make up the December, 1964, and part of the January, 1965, issues of Taxes magazine. Professor Walter J. Blum is in charge of the Law School's sponsorship of the Conference; Assistant Dean James M. Ratcliffe is the Conference executive officer. The Eighteenth Annual Federal Tax Conference will be held on October 27-29, 1965.

The Conference on the Good Samaritan and the Bad, an examination of the law and morality of volunteering in situations of emergency and peril, or of failing to do so, took place in the Winter Quarter. Featured speakers were Charles O. Gregory, Professor of Law, University of Virginia; André Tunc, Professor of Law, University of Paris; Norval Morris, Julius Kreeger Professor of Law and Criminology, The University of Chicago Law School; Louis Waller, Sir Leo Cussen Professor of Law, Monash University, Australia; Alan Barth, Editorial Writer, the Washington Post; Herbert Fingarette, Professor of Philosophy, University of California at Santa Barbara; Joseph Gusfield, Chairman of the Department of Sociology, University of Illinois; Lawrence Z. An innovation in the conference program was a conference in the Spring Quarter featuring papers presented by students. The conference, on Problems of Urban Renewal, included a lecture by Desmond Heap, Comptroller and City Solicitor of The City of London; papers by second-year law students John C. Cratsley, Robert C. Funk, David C. Long, and George A. Ranney; and discussion by Joseph Epstein, of the Urban Redevelopment Agency, North Little Rock, Arkansas; Nancy E. LeBlanc, Deputy Director, Legal Services Unit, Mobilization for Youth, Inc., New York; David E. Pinsky, Housing and Home Finance Agency, Washington, D.C.; and Bernard Weissbourd, President, Metropolitan Structures, Inc., Chicago.

The Henry C. Simons Memorial Lectureship was established in 1955 as a biennial lectureship in the field of law and economics, in honor of Henry C. Simons, for many years a distinguished member of the faculties of the Law School and of the Department of Economics. The first Simons Lecture was given in February, 1958, by George Stigler, then Professor of Economics, Columbia University, on "The Goals of Economic Policy." The second Simons Lecture was given November 18, 1959, by Jacob Viner, Professor of Economics, Princeton University, on "The Intellectual History of Laissez Faire." In 1965-66 the Simons Lecturer will be Professor Milton Friedman.

The C. R. Musser Lectureship, an endowed lectureship in honor of a distinguished citizen, was established by the University in 1955 out of funds previously given to the Law School by the General Service Foundation. The Lectureship is awarded from time to time for a public lecture on some phase of the problems of government, to be given by an experienced citizen who has held public office.

The annual Lecture to the Entering Class at the opening of the academic year was given in 1964-65 by The Honorable Henry J. Friendly, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, whose topic was "On Entering the Path of the Law." In 1965-66 the Lecturer will be the Honorable Charles D. Breitell, Justice of the Appellate Division, New York Supreme Court.

THE COURTS AT THE LAW SCHOOL

The Weymouth Kirkland Courtroom provides complete facilities, not only for the School's moot-court programs, but also to accommodate courts sitting in regular session, hearing actual cases. For the past five years, Illinois trial and appellate courts have held such regular sessions in the Courtroom. These court proceedings are integrated with the first-year program of legal research and writing. Students hold informal discussion sessions with participating lawyers following the trial or arguments.

In November, 1964, the Illinois Appellate Court, First District, Fourth Division, heard argument in two cases from its regular calendar. Members of the Court were The Honorable Robert E. English, '33, Presiding Justice; The Honorable John V. McCormick, J.D., '16; and The Honorable Joseph J. Drucker. In January, 1965, a jury trial before the Circuit Court of Cook County, The Honorable Jacob M. Braude, J.D., '20, presiding, was held in the Courtroom. The Supreme Court of Illinois, The Honorable Ray I. Klingbiel, Chief Justice, and The Honorable Joseph E. Daily, Harry B. Hershey, J.D., '11, Byron O. House, Walter V. Schaefer, J.D., '28, Roy J. Solfisburg, and Robert C. Underwood, Associate Justices, met in regular session in the Courtroom in March, 1965.

THE ETHICS AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS SEMINARS

These seminars provide a forum for students to discuss problems of corporate policy, business practices, and business ethics with corporate executives whose responsibilities are essentially non-legal in character. During the academic year 1964-65 the seminar guests were Messrs. Charles Gray and Joseph Minsky, respectively the chairman and the technical adviser of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission; Howard Boyd, president of El Paso Natural Gas Company; Philip M. Klutznick, housing developer who has served as acting National Housing Administrator, as special adviser to the Attorney-General on housing matters, and as an Ambassador to the United Nations; and David Finn, a senior partner of Ruder and Finn, one of the nation's largest firms of public relations counsel. This program is made possible by the support of the New World Foundation.

THE RIESER SOCIETY

The Society, named in honor of the late Leonard M. Rieser, a prominent Chicago attorney who took a personal interest in the affairs of the Law School and in the education of law students, invites the faculty, selected law students, and special guests to meet from time to time to engage in a discussion of current problems collateral to the law. In 1964-65 the Society's meetings were addressed by Edward W. Rosenheim, Jr., Professor of Humanities in the College, The University of Chicago; Joshua C. Taylor, Professor of Art and William Rainey Harper Professor of Humanities in the College; and Peter H. Rossi, Professor of Sociology, The University of Chicago, and Director of the National Opinion Research Center.

THE LAW STUDENT ASSOCIATION PROGRAM

The Association sponsors a series of informal meetings, usually taking the form of an afternoon coffee hour, featuring a brief prepared address followed by a question and discussion period. Speakers brought to the School under Student Association auspices in 1964-65 included William H. McNeill, Chairman of the Department of History, The University of Chicago; Albert Rees, Professor of Economics, The University of Chicago; Margaret K. Rosenheim, Associate Professor of Social Service Administration; Eugene N. Parker, Professor of Physics; George W. Beadle, President of the University, Professor of Biology and Nobel Prize-winning geneticist; John Hope Franklin, Professor of History, The University of Chicago; Harry Madsen, of the Chicago Bar; Jacob Sundberg, Associate Professor of Law, University of Stockholm, Sweden; The Honorable Ramsey Clark, Deputy Attorney-General of the United States; The Honorable Charles E. ## STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO LAW REVIEW, founded in 1933 and published by the School, is written and managed by a Board of Editors made up of students. Students ranking highest in scholarship upon completion of their first year are invited to become competitors for election to the staff of the Review. From this group, the editorial staff and Board of Editors are chosen. The Jerome N. Frank Prize is awarded annually for the best student contribution published in the Review.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO LAW SCHOOL STUDENT ASSOCIATION is composed of the entire student body and is affiliated with the American Law Student Association, a national organization sponsored by the American Bar Association. The Student Association sponsors a variety of social and extracurricular programs throughout the year.

THE MOOT COURT COMMITTEE conducts the Hinton Competition, a two-year program in appellate advocacy designed to strengthen student skills in the arts of brief writing and oral argument. The Karl N. Llewellyn Memorial Cup is awarded each year for outstanding performance in this program.

THE STUDENT LEGAL AID ASSOCIATION directs student participation in the work of the Edwin F. Mandel Legal Aid Clinic, which was established in 1957 to provide needed legal services for indigent persons and for the training of law students in the handling of cases under supervision. The Legal Aid Clinic is housed in the Law Buildings. The Edwin F. Mandel Award is made annually to the member of the graduating class who has made the greatest contribution to the Legal Aid program.

THE REPORTER of the University of Chicago Law School is a newspaper published quarterly by members of the student body. Staffed entirely by students, it reports both on student activities and on developments in the program of the School.

THE LAW STUDENTS CIVIL RIGHTS RESEARCH COUNCIL at the University of Chicago Law School provides research assistance in the civil rights field for members of the Bar. It also co-ordinates the placement of students in summer civil rights activities, conducts seminars in that field, and participates in local and national conferences on matters of interest in the civil rights area.

THE INDIGENT APPEALS PROJECT in the summer of 1965 gave a number of advanced law students experience in the preparation of abstracts of record and briefs in criminal cases. The Project, carried out under the supervision of a practicing lawyer and members of the faculty, undertook to provide assistance to the Public Defender of Cook County and private counsel representing indigent defendants on appeal. The Project was supported by gifts from the New World Foundation, the Chicago Community Trust, The Wieboldt Foundation, and a number of Chicago law firms.

THE SUMMER INTERNSHIP PROGRAM in the summer of 1965, supported by a grant from the National Council on Legal Clinics, provided opportunities for summer work by law students in a variety of agencies, such as legal aid agencies, neighborhood legal services offices, public defender offices, and others, with a view to broadening the students' understanding of the problems and responsibilities of the Bar in areas not ordinarily part of the experience of young lawyers entering private practice immediately upon graduation.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO LAW SCHOOL CHAPTER OF THE ORDER OF THE COIF is an honor society founded to encourage and to advance the ethical standards of the legal profession. Its members are elected each spring from among the 10 per cent of the graduating class ranking highest in scholarship.

THE KARL LLEWELLYN INN of PHI DELTA PHI, a national legal fraternity, maintains a program of professional and social activities for its student membership.

PLACEMENT

The Law School Placement Office exists to help prospective and former graduates of the School find positions of employment. In addition to working with law firms, corporations, government agencies, and other employers, the Placement Office assists in arrangements for teaching positions and law clerkships with judges. The Office works not only with senior students seeking their first permanent positions but also with alumni seeking a change in association and with students who wish to secure law clerkship positions during the summer between their second and third year in the School. The collaboration of the Law Alumni Association is of great value in these activities.

A student or graduate who wishes to take full advantage of the placement services should complete the Placement Data Sheet. This information enables the Placement Office to canvass the areas of the applicant's choice and inform him of all job opportunities which correspond to his qualifications. Interviews may subsequently be arranged at the Law School or the firm's office.

An open file of detailed descriptive data is maintained on current opportunities in law firms, corporations, municipal, state, and federal governmental departments, judicial clerkships, banks, insurance companies, teaching positions, study and research grants, accounting firms, management consultants, foreign positions, and other job possibilities. In addition, a collection of rules for admission to each state bar is available for student use. Students are encouraged to become familiar with the library of job opportunities and are welcome to discuss their particular job expectations and the placement situation in general with the Assistant Dean in charge of placement, Mr. Fee, or his assistant, Miss Roberts. Other members of the faculty, particularly those who serve on the Faculty Placement Committee, are also available for consultation and advice.

FINANCIAL AID

Except as to graduate fellowships (as to which, see below) all inquiries concerning financial aid should be addressed to the Dean of Students, The Law School, The University of Chicago, 1111 East 60th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637. Applications for financial aid are to be made on forms provided by the Dean of Students of the Law School except in the case of the National Honor Scholarships described below. A special procedure and deadline for making application for the Mechem Prize Scholarships is set forth below.

SCHOLARSHIPS

A substantial program of scholarship assistance to deserving students is made possible by certain endowed funds, generous annual giving by the alumni and other friends of the Law School, and the general funds of the University. With the aid of scholarships, summer earnings, and the substantial loan funds which are available for non-scholarship holders and to supplement scholarships, a large number of students having limited outside resources are able to finance their legal education at the University of Chicago Law School. A list of the funds and gifts from which scholarships are assigned and loans are made is set forth elsewhere in these Announcements. The categories of scholarships are described below.

The Floyd Russell Mechem Prize Scholarships, established as a memorial to Professor Mechem, provide a stipend of $3,200 per year to each of a maximum of ten entering law students chosen by the Mechem Selection Committee on the basis of superior ability, academic qualifications, and promise. The awards are renewable for the second and third years of study at the Law School. The members of the Mechem Selection Committee are: The Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice, United States Supreme Court, Chairman; The Honorable Roger J. Traynor, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of California; The Honorable Sterry R. Waterman, Judge, United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit; Robert G. McCloskey, Professor of Government, Harvard University; J. Roland Pennock, Professor of Political Science, Swarthmore College; The Honorable Whitney North Seymour, former President, American Bar Association, New York, New York; and The Honorable Edward L. Wright, former Chairman, House of Delegates, American Bar Association, Little Rock, Arkansas. The recipients of the 1965-66 Mechem Prize Scholarships are: Danny J. Boggs, Bowling Green, Kentucky; Geoffrey L. Crooks, Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan; William H. Lynch, Forestdale, Rhode Island; Harve H. Mossawir, Jr., Huntsville, Alabama; LeRoy P. Nesbit, Glenville, Minnesota; Susan G. Oakes, New York, New York; James W. Rankin, Arlington, Virginia; Mark R. Spiegel, Chicago, Illinois; and C. Nicholas Vogel, Fargo, North Dakota.

Students desiring to be considered for the Mechem awards should obtain a special application form from the Dean of Students of the Law School. Applications for the Mechem Prize Scholarships must be completed by March 7, 1966.

The National Honor Scholarships are awarded each year to outstanding students who are nominated by selected colleges. These awards, which are granted upon the recommendations of participating colleges, are full-tuition scholarships and are renewable for the second and third years of study at the Law School. Colleges are required to submit their nominations prior to March 1, and students should make application directly to the colleges concerned. Further information concerning the National Honor Scholarships and the participating colleges may be obtained from the Dean of Students of the Law School.

In addition to the foregoing special scholarships, the general scholarship program of the Law School provides grants to students with superior academic records who can demonstrate financial need. Each decision is made partly on need and partly on academic qualifications. Awards are frequently in the amount of tuition, although they may be greater or less, depending upon need and availability of funds. Awards made to entering students are subject to review at the end of each academic year.

FELLOWSHIPS

The Law School has available certain funds which provide fellowships for law graduates in various programs of special study. The number of fellowships and the amounts of the stipends vary, depending upon the needs of the individual student and upon the number of qualified candidates applying. Inquiries concerning fellowships should be directed initially to the Assistant Dean (Graduate Studies), The Law School, 1111 East 60th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

The categories of fellowships available are as follows:

The Harry A. Bigelow Teaching Fellowships, established in 1947 in honor of a former Dean of the School. Bigelow Fellows are members of the Faculty with the rank of Instructor. They assist in the work of the First-Year Tutorial Program.

Commonwealth Fellowships, awarded for a year of study at the School to a limited number of students from the British Commonwealth who are graduates in law or in jurisprudence of universities of the British Commonwealth.

Comparative Law Fellowships, awarded to graduates of European law schools who undertake graduate study in the Comparative Law Program.

Foreign Law Fellowships, awarded to students in the Foreign Law Program.

Law-Economics Fellowships, available for graduate lawyers or economists who desire to pursue a program of study and research in the law-economics area.

New Nations Fellowships, available for students from the United States or abroad who have a particular concern with research or study relating to legal problems of developing nations.

International Organization Fellowships, for graduate students working in the Program in International Trade and Development.

LOANS

In addition to scholarship and fellowship aid available, the University administers funds under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act, maintains a private tuition loan program, and is able to offer certain short-term cash loans through several specially endowed funds. Loans are available to students in the Law School upon demonstration of financial need, subject to recommendation by the Dean of Students and approval by the Bursar. It is possible for students to receive both scholarship and loan assistance.

Beginning with the 1965-66 academic year, students will be able to borrow up to $2,500 per year, not to exceed a total of $10,000. Notes securing such loans are free of interest so long as the borrowers remain in a full-time program of study, and thereafter they bear interest at the annual rate of 3 per cent. After graduation borrowers are expected to make regular monthly payments of at least $20 but may have as long as ten years in which to complete the repayment of their loans.

STUDENT HOUSING

SINGLE STUDENTS

Linn House and Mathews House are the Law School Men's Residences, located in the Burton-Judson Courts and connected with the Law School buildings. The residences include dining hall and lounge rooms, television, recreation, and laundry facilities, as well as living quarters for law students. The rooms are furnished for either single or double occupancy. The lounges in the Burton-Judson Courts also provide a meeting place for law students and a center for extracurricular activities of the School.

Unless special arrangements are made, the assignment of rooms is for a period of three academic quarters. Room contracts include board, and the room and board rate for 1965-66 is $1,081.50 for the academic year, payable in an initial deposit and three quarterly instalments. When available, two-room suites with private bath are rented for $1,147.50 per person for the academic year.

Apartment-style facilities for men are available in Greenwood Hall, 5400 Greenwood Avenue. Apartments include kitchens and baths, and there are common lounge, television, recreation, and laundry facilities in the building. Rates per occupant for the academic year are $377 for apartments of two rooms, $440 for 2½ rooms, $504 for three rooms, and $546 for 3½ rooms.

Arrangements may be made by law students not rooming in the Law School Men's Residences to take regularly breakfast, lunch, or dinner, or any combination, in the Burton-Judson Courts dining halls.

Apartments for graduate women are available at 5518-26 Ellis Avenue. Apartments include two rooms, kitchenette, and bath, and are shared by two women at a rental of $508 per person for the academic year. A few single apartments may be available at a rental of $719.50 for the academic year.

All inquiries concerning University housing for single students should be addressed to the Office of Student Housing, The University of Chicago, 5801 Ellis Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60637. Students are advised to apply early in order to obtain the desired accommodations.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

International House, with accommodations for over five hundred residents (men and women), is a gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and is designed primarily to provide living quarters for qualified students from abroad and for American students. Full-time graduate students and upperclass undergraduate students registered in the University of Chicago and in other colleges and universities in the Chicago area are eligible for residence at International House. Accommodations are available also on a quarterly, short-term, or transient basis to visiting foreign faculty members, scholars, research associates, and Fellows.

International House offers a varied program of cultural and social activities planned to give opportunities for the students to acquire knowledge of each other's customs and culture. Informal discussion groups interpret the historical, political, and sociological aspects of various countries. Social events include dances, concerts, receptions, and programs presenting activities of a national character. Opportunities are provided for foreign and American students to work together in many types of student enterprises. A broad program of community hospitality allows foreign students to meet American families and to visit American homes. Tours are arranged quarterly to Chicago's outstanding industries and historical centers.

Quarterly rates for rooms in International House are as follows: for double rooms equipped with individual beds, $115.00 to $130.00 per person; for single rooms, $120.00 to $175.00. Short periods of residence (minimum of three weeks) are arranged for at favorable weekly rates, which vary according to length of stay and type of room. The daily rate is $3.75 per person for the first seven days and $3.25 per day thereafter. All rooms are furnished, including blankets and bed linen. Moderately priced meals are served in the cafeteria, which is open to all university students and faculty members.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Office of Admissions, International House, 1414 East Fifty-ninth Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

MARRIED STUDENTS

The University maintains a variety of apartments in the community for married students. Furnished apartments range from one to three and one-half rooms with rentals from $85 to $120 per month. Unfurnished apartments, ranging in size from two to six and one-half rooms, rent at monthly rates from $75 to $135. Leases are on a yearly basis. Apartments are equipped with stoves and refrigerators, as well as private baths, but bedding, linen, dishes, silver, and kitchen utensils are not provided. Utilities are included in the rental rate for furnished apartments, but not in that for unfurnished apartments. It is important for students to apply early, as the demand for housing is always in excess of the available facilities. Inquiries by married students should be addressed to the Office of Married Student Housing, The University of Chicago, 824 East Fifty-eighth Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

THE CHAPEL AND RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Sunday morning services of worship are held throughout the academic year in the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel. Students and faculty members participate in the service. Guest preachers include members of the University's Divinity School and outstanding churchmen from all parts of the nation and abroad. Special services are scheduled for the major seasons of the Church year: Advent, Christmas, Lent, Holy Week, and Pentecost. The Chapel is open daily for private meditation and prayer.

Membership in the University Choir is open to all qualified students. The Choir sings at the Sunday services and, accompanied by members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, gives four or five major concerts each year. These include such works as Handel's The Messiah, Bach's Passion According to St. Matthew and Mass in B Minor, as well as modern works of sacred music. Frequent organ concerts are given by the University Organist and by distinguished guest organists. Carillon concerts are played each Sunday and Wednesday by the Chapel Carillonneur.

The University Chapel is the center of a wide variety of student groups organized for religious fellowship and activities within the University and for social service in the city. These groups plan their own programs with the advice of counselors or of student pastors chosen by their respective denominations. The Episcopal, Jewish, Quaker, and Roman Catholic groups have for their activities houses of their own near the Quadrangles. A number of Protestant groups co-operate with the University in maintaining Chapel House, a building adjacent to the Chapel at 5810 Woodlawn Avenue, for their joint activities. Information may be secured, and appointments with the officers or counselors of the several groups may be made, through the Chapel office.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The Student Health Center is part of the group of hospitals, doctors' offices, and research laboratories known as the University of Chicago Hospitals.

During the quarters when a student is registered and for the week following each such quarter, he is entitled to the complete facilities of the Student Health Center. The benefits include office visits to the professional staff of the Student Health Service, access to the Emergency Room of Billings Hospital when Student Health is closed, and hospitalization for the first five days for any single illness when authorized by a Student Health Service physician, provided the illness did not exist before the student's admission to the University.

The University requires a medical examination at time of entrance and periodic rechecks thereafter for selected diseases of concern to the health of the University community. New students on registering must make an appointment for the entrance medical examination and failure to do so or breaking an appointment after it has been made entails an added service fee of $3.00 to reimburse the University for additional expense.

The Health Service does not provide for house or room calls and, except in serious emergency and following advance authorization by Student Health Service, does not pay for ambulance or other types of transport to the Student Health Service Clinic or the Hospital Emergency Room.
